Spring Newsletter

Welcome to our web newsletter, keeping you up to date with what is going on at Helmsley and Kirkby Computers!!

About Us

We are a small limited company based in the heart of North Yorkshire with two Customer bases, North Yorkshire and North Oxfordshire. We have three staff, Andy is a director of the company and is our Computer Technician. Andrew is our In-House Creative Designer and Julia is Head of Accounts. We look after both Home and Business Customers - please see our website for more details on exactly what we do.

Latest News - Main office in Helmsley a great success!

Since opening our Office in the Market Place Helmsley last year we have been inundated with new customers popping in to see us. For our Oxfordshire, Warwickshire and Gloucestershire Customers we also now have a new base in the Oxfordshire market town of Banbury.

This year we are proud to announce the New Version of Microsoft Windows (Vista), the new Intel based Macs and a fully operational Pro Audio Suite is now on display in our training area - Those of you wishing to see the future of Computing and ask any questions can call us to arrange a free visit.

Website of the Month

The Georgina Netherwood Collection would like to introduce you to their website www.geonetherwood.co.uk

The Georgina Netherwood Collection specialise in individually painted and decorated items of furniture and have a showroom in Coxwold, North Yorkshire.

“We are extremely pleased with the response to the website and credit goes to Kirkby Computers for the imaginative and effective design.”

Have your say

This spring our very own Director, Andy Parsons has his say:

Firstly I would like to thank you all for putting aside some time to read this and I will keep my say as short as possible. In this modern age of technological advancement where lots of complicated technology is possible it appears that many Companies are simply losing the plot. How many times have you found with a supplier that the sales contact numbers are fully manned but when it comes to support, the lines of communication are a case of an endless time wasting exercise. So here at our Business we would like to keep automation out of the equation and put the effort into looking after your technical problems as our main priority. No queues, no number choices or premium rate numbers - Just a plain simple approach. We hope you will continue to notice the difference.

Customer Feedback

We would welcome any feedback about what you think of our first newsletter including any comments and suggestions, improvements, wish lists etc. Or would you like to have your say? If so, Please email us at: news@kirkbycomputers.co.uk
